HOW THINGS LOOK FROM OUR STAND POINT.

The Opinion of The Caucasian and the Opinion of others which we Can Endorse on the Various Topics of the Day.

Newspapers ridicule farmers for their unexplainable folly in buying Northern meat, hay and corn instead of buying the home products if they should be unfortunate in not making enough. It is the eternal longing for something from a distance and imagining that that something is better than what we have at home. This is ridiculous modesty (?), yet it exists in spite of being often grinned at. But are farmers the only persons addicted to this fatality? No! The last meeting of the Trustees of the Agricultural College shews that a majority of the members of that board are suffering from the same disease. The names of two worthy North Carolinians were offered for the position of President, one of whom is the peer of any and certainly superior to the majority of those whose names were offered. But alas, he was guilty of being a North Carolinian, which was fatal to his chances. Out of the whole faculty of the great experimental Institution there are now only two North Carolinians, and they need must have left the State for a while to be fit to be called back.

A few days before, the Trustees of the N. C. University elected a man to fill the chair made vacant by the lamented demise of Prof. Graves. The man, though a native Carolinian, had shown wisdom enough to leave the State a number of years ago. If he had in the meantime remained in North Carolina and put forth his efforts to build up his own State he would not have stood a ghost of a chance. If Duplin's worthy son, who was an applicant for the place had remained in Texas a little longer, he might have been the lucky man.

Would it not be a good idea to import 170 men to fill our next Legisture? For certainly we are by ourselves unfit to make our laws, if we are unfit and incompetent to execute them and carry into effect our enterprises.

Family men should get into the habit of inviting their unmarried friends to their homes. There social and business questions, as well as politics, and all other such topics, as are generally considered of interest to men alone, would be freely discussed in the family circle—mostly over the tea table. Then our girls and women would get to be thoroughly versed and interested in the most serious of life's problems and therefore would, when occasion occurred, turn out splendid helpmeets to men in all their undertakings. We believe that such a course would greatly tend to make married life more happy and successful. Two illustrious examples of how such intelligent and well informed wives have been of wonderful aid and inspiration to their husbands is to be found in the case of Thos. H. Hendricks, Vice-President of the United States, and Wm. E. Gladstone, Prime Minister of England.

Mrs Hendricks not only advised her husband on all important steps, but even assisted him in preparing his speeches. It was her ambition that made him twice Vice-President.

How much Mr. Gladstone has owed to his wife since that session of 1839, when he was engaged in discussing the constitution of Jamaca, no one but he himself can know; and no one else has the right to speak upon such a theme. Antonio, in the "Duchess of Malfi," says roundly that marriage must be either heaven or hell.

The example of these two women point clearly to one way in which wives can help to make home next to heaven.

One of the teachers' party, just returned from Europe, in writing to the News and Observer, says:

"If any member of our party was ever within ten miles of Queen Victoria during their visit to Europe," &c.

It is bad for teachers to make such mistakes, and until they learn that their is plural number they will never feel the need of a new pronoun of the common gender, singular number.

Resignation is official suicide. And, in the words of Daniel Webster, "suicide is confession." Now that Nathaniel Jarvis has confessed by resigning, it will be in order for some of the natural sympathizers with rogues to bring out their sneer at "trial by newspaper."—N. Y. World.

The Fair Looming Up!

THE AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION TO BE ORGANIZED AS A CORPORATE BODY.

To Meet Again Next Saturday.

At a meeting of the Life Members of the Sampson County Agricultural Association held in Clinton on July 26th the following resolution was passed:

"Resolved by the Sampson County Agricultural Association that there shall be a Fair held in the Fall of 1889, provided the citizens of the town of Clinton shall contribute the sum of two hundred dollars to be expended and used in improving the Fair Ground property."

Acting upon the above, the citizens of Clinton sent in a list containing subscriptions to the amount of $242.50 to the meeting of the Society which was held in Atkins' Hall on last Monday, September 2nd, whereupon the Society unanimously accepted the subscriptions tendered and resolved to take immediate step toward holding the proposed Fair. Upon motion the body adjourned to meet next Saturday, September 7th, at 10 o'clock A. M., to organize as a corporate body under the charter which has been granted for the purpose aforesaid. Every life member of the original association is earnestly requested to be present so as to facilitate putting in motion the machinery for holding a large and successful Fair at this place during the latter part of the ensuing Fall.

Edmund G. Ross, lately Governor of New Mexico, and twenty odd years ago United States Senator from Kansas, has returned to the printer's case in the composing room of a Sante Fe newspaper. The sturdy independence of character that enabled him to resist immense pressure and stand by his convictions in casting the deciding vote for President Johnson's acquittal is evinced in his quiet return to labor at his trade. His administration as Governor of New Mexico was as able as it was incorruptible, and during his public service he has accumulated no fortune. But he does not consider himself a poor man, so long as he is possessed of the always avaliable capital of knowledge of his craft. This Cincinnatus of the printers is an exemplary figure in our current history.—N. Y. Star.

MYROVER DID IT.

We understand that the C. F. & Y. V. hand book which we noticed last week is the work of J. H. Myrover, now of the Observer, in Fayetteville. We are glad to see that one of the craft is the author of that book; it is surely one of the best efforts of a newspaper man yet put out in this State. Knowing what such work is ourselves, we congratulate the railroad on its selection of an author and Mr. Myrover on his success in so very fully filling the bill.—Jonesboro Leader.

The surviving wives of Presidents are Mrs. Polk, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Garfield and Mrs. Cleveland. Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Tyler have but recently died—Wil. Messenger.

CUMBERLAND NEWS.

ANOTHER PAPER FOR FAYETTEVILLE—RISE IN THE CAPE FEAR—THE COTTON OUTLOOK.

Why Our Young Men Leave the State.

[Reg. Cor. CAUCASIAN.]
FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 2nd, 1889.

A new weekly paper will make its appearance here in a week or two. It is to be called the Farmers' Exchange, and to be edited by Messrs. J. and O. Evans. The prospectus is out and its declaration of principles good.

The death of Maj. Roger P. Atkinson, Chief Engineer of the C. F. & Y. V. Railway, at Greensboro, was not a surprise to his friends, who knew the condition of his health. The engines on the road are draped in mourning. He was popular with all. It is not yet known who will succeed him.

Rev. John M. Rose, of Greenville, S. C., filled the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church yesterday. He is a native of Fayetteville, and always pleases an audience by his learning and eloquence.

Rev. J. W. McRay, of Rock Hill, S. C., has filled the pulpit of the Hay street Methodist church for the last two weeks. Rev. Joseph Wheeler, the pastor, is off on his usual summer vacation.

The mass-meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was postponed until tonight, on account of the abominable weather of last week. The subject for discussion is "the relation of the spiritual and physical side of a young man's life," as seen from a layman's, a general secretary's and a minister's stand-point.

The river is up again and the work on the middle pier for the railroad bridge stopped. The iron work has commenced on the city side of the river. It is to be a huge affair. The framing may be seen a great distance.

A colored boy was drowned in the river here last week. His body was recovered on Thursday, and interred the same day.

Quite a party of Fayettevillians are at Mt. Vernon Springs, sixty miles up on the Yadkin Valley road. It is a popular resort.

The cotton men are making preparations for handling the largest number of bales of cotton ever received in this market. The receipts ought to be 30,000. They have already reached as high as 25,000. Thousands of bales come from South Carolina.

The name of Dr. Wm. C. McDuffie, has been very favorably received in the State, in connection with the superintendency of the North Carolina Insane Asylum. He ought to be elected, as he is thoroughly qualified in every way.

We recently saw an extract from a State paper, which said that thousands of young white men, of talent and brains left the State every year. We rise to ask is it any wonder that the young men leave a State which refuses to encourage them, by giving all places of trust and profit to outsiders, when there are hundreds of competent natives, who could worthily and creditably fill the positions. They however "get left." They make the mistake in early life by concluding to remain in their own State. We are led to these reflections because of the action of the Board of Trustees of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, in ignoring well qualified North Carolina gentlemen in their aspirations for the Presidency of the College, and going out of the State to get a man. We confidently expected the election of that practical scholar and gentleman, Rev. J. L. Stewart, as he is a man of versatile talents and would have made a good one. Then there was Prof. John E. Kelly, of Moore, who could have filled the place. We do not say anything against the gentlemen chosen, but we do say that he is no superior to dozens of Carolinians. These things happen every day, exemplifying the truth of "a prophet is not without honor, save in his own country," and yet people wonder why our young men go West or to some other part of the country where there is no absolute discrimination against them. We know a young man, who will leave this month for the far West, who will be a real loss to this State, and it is because he can see no future for a native here.

Your correspondent is writing from notes and memory this week, as he is down by the "sad sea-side." This is his excuse for a dearth of news this week.

THE CAUCASIAN is read here every week with a great deal of interest. It is justly regarded as one of the strongest weeklies in the State. It is always full of interesting and instructive matter. The merchants ought to advertise more liberally in its columns.

PREVENTION OF TYPHOID FEVER.

Something Everybody Should Read and Observe.

The following article has been handed us and we give it for the benefit of our readers, as there is considerable fever throughout the country:

"Typhoid fever is probably the most preventable of all diseases, not excepting small-pox. It is now known that, like cholera and dysentery, the germ or specific cause of this disease is contained in the discharges from the bowels of those sick of it, and that while other methods of introducing the poison into the system are possible, it most generally gains entrance through the medium of an infected water supply—usually the use of well water polluted by fecal matter. This may be direct, from drinking such water, or indirect, as by using milk or other articles of food or drink from cans or vessels washed in it. Ice, from an infected source, is also dangerous, since it has been proven that freezing does not destroy the infective principle.

While water from all sources of supply is liable to contamination, well water is especially so, whether located in city, town, summer watering place or country. Thus, out of three hundred and fourteen cases occurring in Louisville, Ky., in 1884, two hundred and ninety-eight of the persons used well water habitually, and some of the other sixteen did so occasionally. In the now famous epidemic at Plymouth, Penn., involving the sickness of 1,104 persons, the death of 114, and an actual outlay in money of $67,100.16, the outbreak was traced to the use of water polluted by the fecal discharges of one imported case of the disease. Facts no less convincing might be multiplied indefinitely if space permitted. In a smaller way they are common in the experience of most physicians in active practice.

Usually the wells are sunk near the kitchen, and in dangerous proximity to the privy and other sources of contamination. The well draws its supply from an inverted cone, having its apex at the bottom of the well and its base at the surface of the ground. In dry seasons this base is often extended until the well becomes the receptical for the more or less pefectly filtered filth from all the sources found in the average back yard, and the water, often sparkling in its apparent purity, becomes a culture fluid for any disease germs finding their way into it.

Two methods of prevention, having the same general object in view, are to be recommended. The first involved the thorough disinfection from all discharges from the bowels of typhoid fever patients. This is best done by the use of a solution of chloride of lime, eight ounces to the gallon of water, using a quart of this solution for each discharge, and allowing it to stand in the vessel at least one hour before emptying. A solution of corrosive sublimate, two drams to the gallon of water, will answer the same purpose, but requires to remain longer in contact with the material to be disinfected. Bed and body linen soiled by such patients should be disinfected by the use of the same solution or by boiling.

The second method relates to avoiding the use of suspicious water, and especially well water, and where this cannot be done, to boil such water before it is used for drinking purposes. In the absence of a pure and guarded public water supply, properly stored cistern water is probly open to least objection.

The effectual practice of these methods will require intelligent care and some expense, but it is confidently believed that their general adoption would result in the practical disappearance of a disease that is not only a disgrace to our civilization, but an annual scourge and tax upon the people of Kentucky, in comparison with which yellow fever and cholera sink into insignificance.—Muhlenberg (Ky.) Echo.

OUR FARMERS' COLUMN.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO THOSE WHO TILL THE SOIL.

"There is no material progress that is well based and permanent without agricultural progress."

☞So many agricultural papers are published and articles written by men, who have little or no practical experience as farmers, that information and suggestions through such mediums have fallen into disrepute, and does but little good. In view of this fact, we wish to get the views and tested plans of practical farmers for this column each week. So farmers, send in an account of your success in any branch of Agriculture, for the benefit of the profession.☜

The Raleigh correspondent of the Wilmington Messenger says:

No jute bagging is on sale here and it is said that not a yard will be sold. Both cotton bagging and pine straw bagging are on sale, and some farmers will use the Italian bags which were so extensively used last season.

This is as it should be and we hope the same can be said of every town, hamlet, cross roads in the whole South; and if it is kept for sale at any place, farmers should have too much independence to buy it.

Hog Cholera.

Probably nothing, save the fatal mortgage, has been as great a curse to agriculture for the last decade as hog cholera and swine plague. (The latter is similar to the former, but produced by a somewhat different cause.) The loss to this county alone has several years been probably as high as $10,000, while the estimated loss to farmers of the whole country has ranged from fifteen to thirty million dollars. Is there no preventive for this fatal and costly disease? We do not ask for a cure, for experience on a farm has taught us that a cure is impossible, or the hog, if it does not die, is next to worthless and will have cost twice its original value, to say nothing of its depreciated value. Therefore when a hog once has contracted a genuine case of cholera it is generally cheaper to kill it and bury deep under the ground. If this is not done, the hogs that show signs of cholera should by all means be separated from the other hogs and kept in a pen or enclosure (with no water running through it, for other hogs drinking from the same stream below would be liable to take the disease) that is inside of another inclosure so that no hog could get near them. In the same way the sound hogs should be put in a pen in the middle of a field. Immediate treatment to prevent them from taking the disease should at once be looked after. The food given the hogs should be cooked, the water should have lime sprinkled in it, and tar freely used. If one of these should show signs of disease, remove it immediately to the sick pen. When a hog dies by no means allow the buzzards, other birds or animals to devour the flesh, for by carrying off and dropping bits which might be eaten by hogs, the disease would rapidly spread.

By using some such care our farmers could save thousands of dollars to the county every year.

The Injustice of Man-Made Laws.

The United States produces enough food to supply every citizen bountifully. Its factories are able to furnish all the clothing needed; coal, wood, and minerals are in the greatest abundance, and the people industrious and full of energy, yet want, destitution, hunger, and suffering are constant guests in thousands of homes. Evidently natural conditions are not to blame, but the injustice of man, of man-made laws, is. Is there any plausible reason why the people should suffer from such laws and their results when they have the power to alter them? If the people suffer they have themselves alone to blame. Let them arouse themselves, study the situation, and act like men worthy of a better state; demand and see to it that these evils are corrected.—National Economist.

SARATOGA'S VANITY FAIR.

Dress Parade of fashion and Fortune---The auction Matrimonial.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, Aug. 30.

Here you are. Style, shape, size, color, breeding and training to suit anybody. Come, gentlemen, make your choice. Step up lively. Don't be backward. If you don't see what you want, ask for it. If we haven't got it on exhibition we may have it in stock. Now's your chance. You'll never get them younger or fresher or lovelier if you wait a thousand years. Those who are here only to look on or are already supplied will please take seats in rear and give the ones who mean business a chance. You sir, what would you like to have? You, little fellow with the hook nose and the narrow chest, what can you bid? What do you offer for this strong-limbed young amazon with the sunny hair, shining eyes and faultless complexion, guaranteed not to kick over the traces? Just look at her, not a day over eighteen and as fair as a summer morning. Five hundred thousand and a house on Fifth avenue, a carriage, and gowns from Worth. Is that all? Why, bless you, she's got a grandfather, she has, and a great-grandfather, too That's worth another hundred thousand. But you're a shrewd fellow, if you are ugly and ill-bred. You'll make more money. That's all she needs to make her perfect. What, young fellow! You bid, too? Let's see what you have got. Only a heart and brains? Pooh, pooh! Such things don't go here. Step aside. Come, my beauty, walk out and show this gentleman what a bargain he's got.

* * * * * *

And so they pass in review—the pretty ones and the plain, the silly, trusting little geese and the worldly wise, with their warm, white flesh, their clear, young eyes, their lovely toilets and their dollars and diamonds. Perhaps there isn't a vulgar, loud-mouthed, shouting auctioneer at hand; perhaps it is all so well understood that the low fellow isn't necessary, but the great matrimonial market is here just the same, doing business at the old stand and in the same old way.

SANITARY.

"How can we Best secure economical Disposal of Refuse in our Towns" is an excellent article written by J. L. Ludland, C. E. He classifies the filth, to be removed and disposed of as sewerage and garbage, starts out with the principle that anything that will improve the Sanitary condition is economical. We make an extract.

In the great book of nature we are taught that extreme dangers attend the accumulation of filth within communities of human habitations. We are taught that the products of the vegetable kingdom, having once served the uses of man as food, and having passed from the body as the waste product of the animal kingdom, has become a deleterious substance unfit for the uses or surroundings of mankind, at least until it has been given an opportunity of passing through nature's transforming cycle, to reappear as vegetable matter fit again for the support of the animal kingdom.

This simple lesson has been sadly demonstrated in many cases of preventable sickness, deaths and serious epidemics, until at last it is to be hoped that the necessity of filth removal and disposal has become fully realized by every intelligent human being.

COSTS SOMETHING.

The Winston Sentinel makes the following very timely remarks on the cost and value of newspaper space:

"Every line in a newspaper costs something. If it is for the benefit of an individual or firm it should be paid for. If a grocer was asked to donate groceries to persons abundantly able to pay for them, he would refuse. The proprietor of a newspaper must pay for the free advertising if the beneficiary does not, and yet it is one of the tardiest things to be learned by many people that a newspaper has space in its columns to rent, and must rent to live. To give it away or rent it for anything less than living rates would be as certainly fatal as for a landlord to furnish a house rent free."

DUPLIN NEWS.

GOOD ADVICE TO FARMERS—THE VETERAN ASSOCIATION AND PICNIC.

Other News of Interest.

[Reg. Cor. THE CAUCASIAN.]
KENANSVILLE, N. C., Sept. 2nd, 1889.

Farmers, now is the time to go to work on your next year's fertilizers, making compost heaps, raking up fence-jams, &c. Just try home-made fertilizers one year and see if you don't make as much as with the commercial; also, see if the mortgage on your crop isn't lighter next fall than it is now. Try it and be convinced.

We were mistaken in announcing that the Kenansville Male and Female Academy would open on the 2nd of September. The next term will begin September 9th, under Prof. Shaw, assisted by Prof. J. A. McArthur of Cumberland.

Miss Laura Moore, one of our most amiable and accomplished young ladies, left on the 25th of August for Mt. Olive, near which place she takes charge of a public school. We congratulate the school on securing the services of such an estimable lady and thorough teacher.

Messrs. Gus Cox and Frank Oliver, of Mt. Olive, spent several days in town last week.

Mr. Stephen Graham lost a very fine three-year-old colt, with staggers, on the 24th ult.

Misses Annie Taylor and Eula Cox, of Catherine's Lake, Onslow county, visited friends here last week.

Mrs. Jas. G. Kenan and daughter, Miss Emily, of this place, also Miss Jessie Kenan, of Wilmington, who went with the North Carolina Teachers' to "The Old Country," about the 1st of July, arrived here on the 24th. They report a very pleasant trip.

Mr. L. P. Barbrey, of Clinton, was in town last week.

Mrs. Rob Boykin, of Wilson; Mrs. Ed. Love, of Harnett; and Miss Anna Stanford, of Clinton, have been in the village, visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Stanford.

Mr. N. H. Sprunt will open a first-class grocery store here, about the 10th of Sept. Such a business has been badly needed here for sometime, and we would be glad to see the public show its appreciation of Mr. Sprunt's efforts, by giving him a very liberal patronage.

Messrs. Jim Jones and George Noble, of Lenoir, are attending this term at the Seminary. We see no reason why we should not have quite a crowd of pupils attending our schools, as we know of no better place for a boarding school than here, for several reasons.

1st. Our residents enjoy the best of health and no visitor was ever known to be seriously ill while here.

2nd. We have only one class of society, and that strictly high grade.

3rd. Parents need have no feer of sending their daughters here, as the "fast young man" does not reside in our town, and boys will acquire no bad habits while here, as ours is a prohibition town, and our few boys have good morals.

We got into business the other day. A young lady, who has passed through about thirty hot summers and there is no telling how many cold winters, was showing us some of her fancy work, and when, by way of complimenting her work, we told her she was "worth having," she asked us if we would mind taking her along. There was but one resort, therefore we had to plead age on her, but we will be more careful in the future.

What has gone with the Warsaw and Jacksonville railroad? We seldom hear it spoken of now.

Every one is looking forward to the old soldiers' pic-nic, to be held here on the 14th of September, with pleasant anticipations. A large crowd is expected.

Mr. J. F. Cox, a son of Mr. J. W. Cox, of Kenansville, died of typhoid fever on Sunday, the first instant. He had been sick about a month, having come home from Clinton about the first of August, where he was engaged as salesman for Mr. W. A. Johnson.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS.

Something Interesting to Young Readers of The Caucasian.

[Prepared each week by W. A. JONNSON, to whom all communications intended for this column should be addressed.]

WHAT THEY CAUGHT.

Four deluded youngsters
On a summer day,
Just to go a fishing
Slyly ran away.
Willows, worms and tackle
To their work they brought,
And, if you believe me,
This is what they caught.

Tommy caught a wetting,
He was over-bold;
Jimmy caught a scolding;
Johnny caught a cold;
Harry caught a whipping,
Much against his wish,
But, with all their truble,
No one caught a fish!

Little ones have their sorrows and trials, and the dear Saviour is ever willing to listen to their requests and prayers. How tender He was, when on earth, to the little ones. He took them in His arms and blessed them, and so sweetly said "Forbid them not," and He is the very same Saviour to-day that He was then; the tender Saviour hears, and will answer your little petitions.

This morning I read this beautiful extract, and I want to impress it on your minds: "It is not what we read, but what we remember that does us good; not what we earn, but what we save; not what we eat, but what we digest; not what we intend, but what we do, that makes us useful; it is not a few faint wishes, but a life-long struggle that makes us valiant." This struck me as all so sensible that I felt it would do great good for all the children to study and remember it.

CLINTON, N. C.,—SEPT. 5, 1889.

The New York Star is out in a new dress. It is printed on a new rapid press, with new type, and is now one of the neatest and most readable papers published at the Metropolis.

The talented J. H. Myrover, of the Fayetteville Observer, got out the handsome, illustrated book published by the C. F. & Y. V. Railroad. The work does great credit to both.

Col. W. J. Green, of Fayetteville, has returned from a visit to ex-President Jefferson Davis, and says the "grand old man" will surely come to the Fayetteville Centennial in November.

The contract to furnish the Postoffice Department with postal cards for the next four years has been awarded to Albert Daggett, of New York. The contract calls for sixteen hundred million postal cards for which he is to be paid $636,000.

Some papers are having much to say about Governor Fowle's aspiring to succeed Senator Vance in the Senate at the expiration of the latter's term, commenting and prophecying thereon. We do not think Gov. Fowle ever expressed any such desire, if he even thought of such a thing, and so much ado about nothing seems entirely unnecessary.

Messrs. J. & O. Evans, of Fayettevill, will begin the publication of the Farmers' Exchange, a weekly paper, to be devoted to the interests of Cumberland county, and the Farmers' Alliance in that section, and the promotion of the Cumberland Fair. While Conservative on all subjects, politically the Exchange will be Democratic. We wish the Exchange a long and useful life.

The Painesville Democrat is a convert to the elixir of life theory. This is what has "brought the editor around." He says: "An exchange tells of an elderly gentleman who, after having some of the elixir of life injected into his veins, hurried to a newspaper office and paid his subscription account of several years' standing. Let us have more juice of the lamb, by all means."—Exchange.

Prof. Cain, of the Carolina Military Institute, S.C., has been elected to fill the Chair of Mathematics at the University, to succeed the late lamented scholar and gentleman, Prof. Ralph H. Graves. The Raleigh News and Observer says of Prof. Cain:

Prof. Cain was born in Hillsboro, in 1847, and is a grandson of Judge Bailey. He was also a relation of the late Judge Ruffin and has extensive connections in Eastern N. C. He is a characteristic and true North Carolinian in every sense. During the war he served a while in the Confederate army. He afterward studied law under Judge Bailey but concluded to devote himself to mathematics and engineering, particularly practical engineering, railroad location and construction. For seven years he was professor of mathematics and engineering in the Carolina Military Institute at Charlotte, which was conducted on the West Point basis as far as civil studies were concerned. He was for two years locating and building railroads and was engaged in collecting data for the map for the geological survey of North Carolina. Since October 1882 he has been professor of mathemetics in the South Carolina Military Institute, a branch of the State University. He has written six books on various branches of bridge building and engineering in Van Nostrand's series which have given him great eminence as a mathematician. He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and has been a teacher of pure mathematics and engineering for over twelve years.

Prof. Alexander Holliday, of Florida, has been the lucky candidate for the Presidency of the A. & M. College. At the meeting of the Board of Trustees on the 30th of August the names of five gentlemen were presented, but it was soon seen, that the fight lay between Rev. J. L. Stewart of Clinton, and Mr. Holliday. There were twelve votes and on 3 ballots Mr. Stewart received six; one-half of them, but on the final ballot he lost one, which elected Holliday by a vote of seven to five. We hope the trustees have made no mistake, but we feel sure that if Mr. Stewart had been elected, he would have filled the position with credit to himself and to the State. The News and Observer says of the new President:

Prof. Holliday is about fifty years of age; was aide de camp upon the staff of Gen. Bragg during the war, having entered the Confederate army as a private. He has been for some years president of the Florida Agricultural College. Before going to Florida, he lived in Mecklenburg county on the "McKnight Alexander place" near Charlotte (adjoining the plantation of Hon. S. B. Alexander) which he bought after removing from Virginia, his native State, very soon after the war. Three of his children now live in Wilmington to wit: Rev. Dr. Hoge's wife and her two brothers (the Messrs. Holliday) one of whom married a daughter of Mr. Geo. W. Williams, and the other is a young man in the service of the Coast Line road. He is said to be a profound scholar and a gentleman of great culture. The recommendations before the Board of Trustees were very high. He also enjoys the reputation of being a good organizer. He is now spending the summer at Lincolnton, and has heretofore expressed his intention of returning to his State and making it his permanent residence, and we feel gratified that the board have contributed to that movement by calling him to preside over the Agricultural College. In fact we are entitled to claim him as a North Carolinian any way, for his family have, as well as himself, shown their preference for the Old North State. We are also informed that he has been offered the presidency of the Agricultural College of Georgia.

NATIONAL WORTH OF MINISTERS.

In our opinion there is no class of men who do so much to develop the minds and hearts of the people as the ministers. The pulpit is a powerful popular educator of the mind. It is also a fountain sending out streams to refresh and invigorate the conscience of the masses to do right. The pulpit not only promotes practical intelligence, but rouses up and stimulates public sentiment to obey law, to tell the truth, to deal honestly, to be faithful to contracts, to live peacefully among themselves, to be good citizens and good neighbors. Thus we see that the influence of the pulpit is to enlighten, to edify, to pour practical thought into the minds of the people, and to purify the heart and quicken the conscience to live righteously, soberly and godly. In quality then the ministerial influence is first-class, conservative, luminous, healthy, developing all that is good and excellent in man.

* * * * *

There are now about one hundred thousand ministers in the United States. Now think of this number of men engaged in the work of building up the christian manhood of the people, and who can tell their worth to the nation. As salt keeps meat from spoiling, so the influence of religion keeps the people from falling into the rottenness of anarchy, infidelity and unmanageable public corruption. An exchange says that "The ministry of the United States can reach with the living voice 23,000,000 of people. Probably 23,000,000, who are old enough to go to church, are effectively reached by the voice of the pulpit in this land."—Christian Advocate.

GRAMMATICAL ERRORS.

The editor of the Clinton CAUCASIAN is teacher of a classical school. He does well in pointing out an error that full ninety-nine men in a hundred fall into in public speaking. We rarely ever hear a sermon an exhortation, an address that we do not hear the ungrammaticism that is pointed out in the following. The CAUCASIAN says:

"One of our exchanges has the following ungrammatical assurance for its subscribers:

'I assure every one whose time is not out that their paper is placed in the postoffice here each week.'

"Nine-tenths of the people in this country use their (plural) as the subsequent of everyone, (singular), but we are surprised to see one of our valued exchanges use such bad English. This calls up the question of a new pronoun of the singular number, common gender. The CAUCASIAN has already suggested huh, hes, hem.—Wil Messenger.

TWO OPINIONS.

The Wilmington Star says: "It requires no great talent to be offensive." It requires about the same quantity of talent as it does to be insincerely and dishonestly complimentary. One is about as bad as the other and both disgust truth-loving men.—Wilson Advance.

PREPARATION IN ADVANCE.

[From Young People.]

As Ralph was getting ready for church he asked his sister how many white horses George Washington had in his chariot. Somewhat amazed, Minnie answed, "Why, I'm sure I don't know, Ralph. What put that into your head now?" "Oh, because," quoth our little philosopher, "I always want a subject to think about when the sermon is dull.

Alliance Department.

[THE CAUCASIAN was adopted as the official organ of the County Alliances by the County Alliance, January 19th.]

Attention Brethren.

The subscription price of the National Economist is $1.00 per year, but we have a clubbing arrangement by which we can furnish the paper to all subscribers of THE CAUCASIAN at 80 cents per year. Those who are not taking THE CAUCASIAN can get both papers (for the first year only) for $2.00.

G. A. Clute, the Sampson County Business Agent, has ordered 25,000 yards of cotton bagging to cover the fall crop. Several more mills for the manufacture of this cotton bagging have been started in the last few months, and there is now but little doubt that the supply will be sufficient to cover the entire cotton crop, without using a yard of jute.

Would it not be a good idea for the Alliances of this county to take stock in and start a canning factory, to be managed by the County Business Agent? Discuss the matter, brethren, in your lodges, and send us your opinion about the matter.

BLUFF ALLIANCE, No. 577.

At a regular meeting, the 3rd instant, the members of this Alliance present stated the number of yards of cotton bagging they contemplate using the ensuing autumn, viz: J. H. Boon 30 yards; J. C. Hobbs 40 yards; L. D. Herring & Bros 30 yards; M. A. Warwick 18 yards; J. M. Jackson 30 yards; J. H. Hudson 36 yards. J. H. Bryan 30 yards; T. E. Howard 60 yards; H. C. Giddens 36 yards; J. E. Bass 24 yards—making 364 yards, and there are several who were not present at that meeting, will need cotton bagging, as our Alliance is determined to use no other, if they can get it. This Alliance heartily endorsed the action of the late county Alliance as it hitherto endorsed the action of the late Birmingham convention. In fact it endorses all patriotic measures adopted by its superiors in Alliance authority. The only trouble is the members don't employ enough time in reading Alliance Literature which will thoroughly educate them in the tenets of Allianceism, but we think and hope they will take time by the forelock and read as becometh working members.

J. E. West, of Rome Alliance, No. 346, Johnston county, was received by dimit at this meeting. We are surrounded by lodges, but our enemies on every hand are to be watched with Argus eyes or they may betray us traitor like into the hands of our wiley foes. Much success to the Farmers' Alliance and its faithful organs throughout the Union.

C.

Will Bear Thinking About.

[Special to Caucasian.]

Mr. Editor—Dear Sir: The Farmer being the producer of ALL wealth, all those millions of money that are locked up in the vaults of the Treasury at Washington is that much of his unrequited labor. Is it not right and proper for him to have the use of it without having banks with their high rates of interest? which he is compelled to pay at this time; and at the same time, the Government lends money to bankers and other speculators, who never actually produced one dime of it, at the nominal rate of one per cent per annum. Is it a fact that the farmer is so humbled and dispirited by constant toil and disappointed expectation, that new life and energy and resolution and determination, cannot be infused into him, and arouse him from his lethargy, so he will go forward with care and unconquerable determination that the laws of the country shall be so changed that he will at least have a share in its profits of his own labors?

It is a truth clear to any observing mind that farmers of this country are but slaves, while masters live in the cities, and do nothing but gather the productions of the farmer at minimum rates, and pay for them in goods at maximum rates.

Look at the overworked appearance of the farmer. He is dull and heavy of heart. The price of his products are low down, and he will not be able to raise his mortgage, and nothing left to school his children, who are growing up in ignorance, and to all appearances will be fit subjects to be enslaved by the merciless speculator that handles and realizes large profits of his labor; if the farmers of the country submit to such treatment as this, when they have a remedy at hand in the ballot-box, it is none too bad for them. I say the "ballot-box" for it will surely come that at last in part at least.

The crops throughout this county are badly damaged by too much rain; some say fully half.

Some hogs are dying with cholera; not so bad as sometime heretofore, but appears to be increasing. No 846.

In several of the States just now the politicians express unusual solicitude for the welfare of the dear people. They fear that the Alliance will mislead the farmers into an abandonment of the parties, and as the parties are under control of the politicians, that might lead to independence on the part of the farmers. Such solicitude is necessary as it is disinterested.—National Economist.

The question now to be decided is whether the next era is to be the age of monopoly or the age of co-operation.—National Economist.

A QUEER FOOLISH TOAD.

Swallowed the Bee Alive and was Sorry for It Right Away.

From the Asheville Gazette.

The other day as I lay in my hammock I saw a huge toad winking and blinking lazily under the large leaf of a foliage plant. He looked contented and happy, and just as if he didn't care whether school kept or not. A bumble bee came buzzing around the flowers. That toad opened his eyes, looked around, deliberately winked one eye again. He was not asleep, however, for the next moment, when the bee came a trifle nearer, he made a little spring, opened his countenance till I thought he would drop in two, there was a red flash—and the bee had disappeared.

I was just beginning to wonder where it had gone to when I noticed the toad begin to look melancholy. I then noticed that his white vest was puffed out like an alderman's. In less time than it takes to tell it he was the most lonesome looking toad that I ever saw. He seemed to reflect a minute and then got into an attitude in which the old prims represent Nebuchadnezzar when he was out to pasture. His big mouth was close to the ground while his hind feet stood on tiptoe. He had swallowed something hot and was now going to get rid of it by reversing the process. After several violent efforts, during which his whole anatomy heaved with emotion, the troublesome Jonah was ejected and lay on the grass before him. The toad wasn't winking at me any more. Instead, he was venting looks of revengeful spite at the unfortunate author of all his troubles, which by this time presented a sorry appearance. Soon he cautiously approached, and, with a lightning like movement, the bee again disappeared, this time to stay. For a moment the toad moved cautiously, as if to avoid stirring up again that burning fire beneath his vest, and then, seeing that it was all right, hopped back with an elated air and went to sleep under the leaf.

—Moses Thomas, a negro who has been working for Mr. J. E. Royal, went up to the residence of Mr. Royal last Thursday and told Mrs. Royal that Mr. Willie Pugh, one of Mr. Royal's clerk's, wished his banjo sent down to the store. She gave the negro the banjo but neither he nor the banjo have been seen since.

We see the enterprising citizens of Clinton are moving to have their Fair this fall. We are glad to see this, and trust that it will never be permitted to go down again. We always enjoyed going there.—Mount Olive Telegram.

Our brother of the Telegram voices the sentiments of many others and our county should by all means reinstate its annual Fair. This it can do with little expense and every prospect of success. A Fair this fall we must have.

—The "King's Daughters" of the congregation of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Clinton, have recently purchased a handsome pulpit Bible, at a cost of $16.00 for use in the pulpit of their church. During communion service last Sunday it was reverently laid upon the altar as one of the oblations presented. The binding is of dark purple Turkey morocco and the type is large and clear. Altogether it is a very handsome offering and very creditable to the young ladies who presented it.

—The Reunion of the Confederate Veterans of Sampson county will be held in Clinton on Thursday, the 26th inst. It had been previously announced that it would be held on the 7th, but through mistake in proof reading the types read on the 17th. The committee then struck off posters and mailed them out stating the Reunion had been postponed until further notice. The time has been finally settled for Thursday the 26th and a large crowd and a pleasant occasion is expected.

—The bulletin of the North Carolina Board of Health says:

"The superintendent of health may not be able to make perfect reports on the diseases occuring in the county on account of the non-co-operation of the county profession."

We notice that the report from this county is not full, but we can't believe that the profession of this county would not co-operate with the superintendent to make it so; and on the other hand we have a most excellent and wide-awake superintendent, hence where lies the fault?

—At the last meeting of the Trustees of the Agricultural College, it was decided that the examination of applicants for free tuition in the College should take place during the month of Sept., time of examination at the option of the county Supt. and Board of Education. The Board of Education in session Tuesday decided to hold said examination on Fridry, Sept. 20th, all applicants should report for examination at the Court House in Clinton at that time. We give in another column the law upon who is eligible etc.

—Why not have a fat man's day during the next fair? Sampson can probably show more men, per hundred citizens, who will weigh over two hundred pounds than any of her sister counties. Such a collection of our big, fat men would be a great advertisement for our county, for there must be everything to create good cheer to produce such men. The only regret we have about such an arrangement is that the editor of this paper, and many more in his condition, would have to be hid on that day. But we will hurrah for the big men all the same.

—See in another column a part of the proceedings of the last meeting of the Agricultural Association. Owing to the fact that this society having existed heretofore rather as a big partnership and having suspended operations several years ago, since which time its business has become to some extent tangled and and its legal status somewhat uncertain, it has necessitated some time and several meetings to get matters into an operative shape. But these difficulties are clearing away and the probabilities now are that active work will soon begin in earnest. next Saturday, September 7th, has been fixed for the day of the next meeting, at which time the Society will organize under the charter and commence work as a corporate body Let every member do his duty to himself and his county by being present.

—Some claim that it is now too late to hold a fair. Follow that logic and it would be too late next year before organized work could be started. Time "is not of the essence" of accomplishing such undertakings. Give men a year to hold a fair and the great bulk of the work is done in the last twenty or thirty days. Some others claim that we have nothing to exhibit. If that is so, then we ought to have a fair to learn how poor we are, for having learned our true condition we will be the better able to remedy it. But on the other hand, we claim that if we make anything like a creditable exhibit at a fair this fall, it would be one of the best advertisements for the county and show better for its agricultural condition than a regularly gotten up fair could. Why? Because the products that are usually exhibited at fairs do not represent the true average condition of agriculture, but a stimulated condition along a narrow line laid out by the premiums offered. Not so in this case, for the fair has caught the farmer off his guard, after his crop is made, so what he exhibits will represent what he produces as a good farmer, without any hope of praise, reputation or reward.

Who Is Eligible?

For the information of the public we publish Section 8 of the Laws of 1887, Chapter 410, in relation to the reception of free tuition students in the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts:

The Board of Trustees shall admit to the benefits of said college, free of any charge for tuition, upon proper evidence of good moral character and of their inability, or the inability of their parents or guardians to pay their tuition, a certain number of youths, to be determined by them, not to be less than one hundred and twenty, and shall apportion the same to the different counties applying, according to their relative number in the House of Representatives of North Carolina. The said Board are hereby empowered to make the necessary regulations for carrying this into effect and for the admission of other students.

Notwithstanding the wording of the section above, we think that if none should apply who are actually unable, in any county, then the privilege should be granted to those apply who are least able, and such we suppose will be the construction.

A Sad Death.

Mr. J. F. Cox who left here about August first, for his home in Kenansville, died at that place on Sunday, the first instant, of typhoid fever. He had been in Clinton since November as salesman with Mr. W. A. Johnson and by his gentlemanly bearing and straightforward dealings had won the esteem of all who knew him. Mr. Cox was a young man of excellent qualities and was just twenty-five years old at his death, having died on his birth-day. We extend our sympathy to his bereaved family in their loss by his untimely death.

The Poor House a Model---The Jail Anything Else.

Dr. J. A. Stevens, County Superintendent of Health, reporting for Sampson in the N. C. Bulletin of Health says:

"The sanitary condition of jail is very bad; it is built in a low flat, not properly drained; the weeds cover the entire enclosure around the jail; some are five feet high. We are greatly in need of a new jail. Our poorhouse is a model, its sanitary condition being all I could wish for."

THEN-------IT------RAINS.

"Drizzle-te-drizzle from March to September,"
Jack says to Jill as they meet in the lanes;
"This is a summer we both shall remember!"
Then——it——rains.

"Pleasant at last!" shouts the farmer; "now hustle!"
Quick flies the reaper! The wheat strews the plains;
Toward the stack 'tis beginning to rustle—
Then——it——rains!

"Look at the sun!" cries the girl to her lover?"
"Hurry! the picnic! make haste for the trains!
Glad that the hateful old weather is over!"
Then——it——rains!

Rains till the river has Noah's deluge in it;
Till the dam bursts with the flood it contains,
And flashes are drowned. It slacks up a minute!
Then——it——rains!

TURKEY.

Mr. James Wiley recently purchased 350 acres of land in this section and, he and his children doing all the work on the farm this year, will probably make one hundred barrels of corn and eight or ten bales of cotton. His crop is nearly all on old land, showing that there is not so much in the land as in the man that tends it. F.

Speaking of the solid shot found in a stump in your town, I heard Mr. Curtis Thomson say that his grandfather and a man named Dodd, with other parties perhaps, had a fight near Clinton, at what is now Mr. Frank Pugh's place, with Tories. Thomson was killed, Dodd having a fleet horse escaped. Dodd was a great-grandfather of Mrs. Murphy of your town. Tradition also says that Cornwallis, finding the rivers flooded, after the battle of Guilford Courthouse, retreated to Wilmington and then took ship to Yorktown. I saw the old house in Hillsboro that was said to have been his headquarters. He also camped at the old Duplin Courthouse, near Wm. A. Faison's. Respectfully, E. L. FAISON.

We are glad to state that a postoffice has been established at Turkey. It was opened last Monday, with Mr. Ed. Mann postmaster.

Misses Irene and Josie Carroll left last week for Union Academy, Harrell's Store, N. C., where they will continue their course of studies.

There are large deposits of phosphate rock in Turkey township. Specimens of the rock have been analyzed by Dr. Dabney and contain sand and insoluble matter, 1.49 per cent., corbonate of lime 12.00, bone phosphate 71.82.

The many friends of miss Lillie Kirby will be glad to hear that she is improving fast, and will soon return home.

TAYLOR'S BRIDGE.

Rev. D. B. Clayton will preach at Red Hill on the 2nd Sunday in this month.

Mr. J. S. Parrish, one of the oldest citizens of this community, died on the 28th ult. He was about 75 years of age,

MINGO.

The recent rains have been damaging to fodder.

We are glad to learn that Mr. J. M. Strickland and Miss Nervella Williams,, who have been very sick with fever, are improved so much as to be out again.

There has been an interesting revival at McMillan's Chapel, conducted by Rev. Drs. Mack and McBryde. Many converts were made and the community was thoroughly aroused to religious work.

Mr. J. A. Oates, Jr., closed his school near here on the 27th ult. He is an excellent teacher and gave perfect satisfaction to all his patrons. (Will.)

The people all seem very quiet, as the revivals are all over and a few chickens left. What next, the Associations and S. S. Conventions.

As there has appeared nothing in your valuable paper from High Sampson, in the last issues, I thought I would drop a word or two.

People generally are through their fodder and are preparing for cotton, as it is much better than previously reported.

Rev. Wm. M. Bland preached an excellent sermon at Spring Branch on the 1st inst. Mr. Bland is an excellent teacher and is principle of a good school in this vicinity.

Miss Mattie Woodard, a charming young lady of Goldsboro, is visiting friends at Mr. J. T. Warrens.

Rev. A. B. Aldermans Masonic funeral will be preached on the 3rd Sunday in September, at Dunn, by the Rev. Mr. Brown, of Winston.

LISBON.

We are glad to hear that Mr. Haywood Boykin, who has been quite sick for the past few days is much better.

Several deaths have recently occured among the colored population.

Business has been lively in the Magistrates circles for the past few weeks, one prisoner gave our esteemed officer an approved leg bail last Friday evening.

Prof W. A. Hobbs has quite a promising school at Ingold, 28 pupils enrolled and others expected, timbers for the new school building are being put in place.

The Little Coharie Planter, who has been suffering with a badly bruised and mangled hand, wishes to know if there is no better way of catching muskrats than with a steel trap.

Crop report, cotton 50 per cent, corn 80 rice 60, cow peas 75, potatoes 80 sugar cane 90, chufas 100, fodder 100 Hay 100. Citizen.

At a special term of the Bladen "court"-(ing) held at White Lake in the month of June a protracted suit was decided in favor of the plaintiff. We understand that a public declaration of the result of this suit will be made in Lisbon township in about a month.

Howard Smith, a boy 13 years old, was brought before squire Robinson charged with being an accomplice with one Frank Blackburn in sheep stealing. The Magistrate ordered Constable A. B. Kelly to commit the boy to jail to await the next term of court. Blackburn is still at large. He is a notorious character, having broken jail at Clinton, and having been found guilty of various crimes one of which was stealing a Bible from a church.

FRANKLIN.

Capt. Black's steam boat, "Lisbon, of Wilmington," now runs regularly twice a week between Wilmington and Clear Run. Captain Black is cutting out stooping trees with a force of hands, so that a cabin can be placed upon his boat. The steamer "Delta" does not come higher than Point Caswell.

SOUTH CLINTON.

L. R. Powell has peas, the pods of which are twenty inches long. They are of what is known as the Yard variety.

NEWTON GROVE.

The proposed meeting of the prospective Trustees of the prospective Academy near Newton Grove met on last Saturday. We are sorry to say that the existence of Beaver Dam Creek has exploded the prospects for a large and flourishing academy in this section. Parties on the south side of Beaver Dam wish the academy located on their side, and those on the north on their side. Either location is in less than a mile of Newton Grove. No school can exist and be run successfully without unity, and we are sorry to note a lack of it in this community.

PINEY GROVE.

Mr. J. W. Wright, from McDaniels, was in our section this week. He brought his son, Tommy to his school, that convened at Oakdale Academy last Monday. Tommy, though young, has a first-class certificate.

The hog cholera is quite prevalent in our section. Mr. A. H. King has lost about fifty. Others are losing more or less.

Protracted meeting at Goshen this week, Rev. Mr. Butts, from Dunn, is assisting the pastor.

Thirteen persons were baptised as the result of the meeting at Piney Grove. Rev. Mr. Meeks greatly endeared himself to the people of Piney Grove.

HONEYCUTTS.

Mr. W. L. White who has been quite sick with typhoid fever was able to go to Clinton Monday, but his mother and two children are yet quite sick.

Last week an old negro woman came to the store of the Messrs. Culbreth, on Coharie, with a bag of corn to sell. Her name is Nancy Molby and she is 104 years old. This corn she tilled and gathered this year with her own hands and carried it to the store.

Items From Bladen.

(Special Cor. Caucasian.)

This writer, one of the traveling agents of THE CAUCASIAN, had the pleasure of taking a trip through the sections around White Oak and Ammon and was struck with the excellent crops he saw along the route. The farmers of Bladen are industrious and progressive, as their crops will show.

We noticed cotton in some places six and seven feet high, and corn looked well everywhere. Some of the farmers expect to get a bale and a half of cotton to the acre—an excellent yield.

We never were among a more kind and hospitable people than the people of Bladen, and shall always cherish a tender spot in our memory for them and their kind treatment while among them.

Your correspondent also took a trip through a part of Eastern Cumberland around Cedar Creek and found the farmers in good cheer over the prospect of a fairly good average crop.

We saw some extra good cotton and think some of it will make a bale and a half to the acre. The fruit crop is good, but wet weather causes a good deal to rot prematurely.

The section around Cedar Creek is a prosperous one, settled by a clever and energetic people, whom we will long remember for kindness shown us. W.

About Bladen.

(Special Cor. Caucasian.)

Mr. Editor: I was raised in Bladen county and have been absent from that section for ten years, and I beg leave to speak of the improvements of that county in that time. Green's Bridge road has been raised above high water. The farmers are cultivating chufas by ten-acre fields. They take the waste lands that have been turned out, and improved them. The bee business is much improved by patent hives and extractors. The roads and creeks are made passable by good bridges. The swamp land in the section of White Oak church has been greatly improved by proper draining. It is now one of the finest cotton and corn growing sections of the State. The bushy Lake has been drained, and about 2,000 acres of fine swamp land is thereby brought into usefulness. There is push and thrift in that section of the county.

Rev. Mr. Brunt is in charge of White Oak Academy and has a fine school. Bladen is in the lead for big blues, but no chance to strip them. While there I got some idea of the cultivation of the huckleberry. There is a huckleberry pond that was cleared about 60 years ago and has not been cultivated in 35 years. It is now a dense forest of huckleberry bushes. I examined them closely, and found a very heavy crop of berries, but they were small and of a dwarfed appearance. Many of the bushes had droped their leaves, leaving on the bushes a full crop of berries. There are about 30 acres of land in that pond. I think there could have been 100 bushels of berries gathered in it the last week in June. GEO. W. CAIN.

NEW BARBER SHOP.

When you wish an easy shave,
As good as barber ever gave,
Just call on me at my saloon
At morning, eve or noon;
I cut and dress the hair with grace,
To suit the contour of the face.
My room is neat and towels clean,
Scissors sharp and razors keen,
And everything I think you'll find;
To suit the face and please the mind,
And all my art and skill can do
If you just call, I'll do for you.

PAUL SHERARD,
The Clinton Barber.

THE TEACHERS IN EUROPE.

[Special Cor. to State Chronicle.]

Hey, dey, teachers, where have you been?
"Been to London to see the Queen."
What did you see when you got there?
"Saw her sitting in a 'gilt arm chair'"
What did she say when you went in?
"Awful glad to see you; how have you been?"
What did you do when she said this?
"Harrell kneeled down her hand for to kiss."
What did she say to this mistake?
"Asked him what nerve food he did take."
What did Beatrice do the while?
"Labored in vain to suppress a smile."

Hadn't Harrell read in the papers of late
All about kissing in the Old North State?
No, I reckon not, but Ponsonby had
And evidently thought it was all very bad.
What excuse did he give to Pons?
Said he only did it just for the nonce;
The Queen you see had sprained her knee
And he "kissed her purely through SYMPATHY."

JUST FOR FUN.

DENOMINATIONAL LOYALTY.

When one professes religion, he ought to join that church which he is satisfied conforms most closely in faith and practice to the teaching of God's Word. Having settled this important matter, he should, from the time of joining the church to the end of his life, give to that church, and the people among whom he has cast his lot, his unswerving encouragement and support. A man is not considered a good Mason or Odd Fellow, unless he is true to his society; so a man is not faithful to the church if he ignores the claims of that church upon him. It is a shame that men and women will profess religion, connect themselves with the church and then be so careless about attending the confe.ence meetings and the public worship of the sanctuary, as to compel the church to appoint committees to wait on them to ascertain the cause of their absence, or to adopt other stringent methods, to secure their attendance.—Biblical Recorder.

Rheumatism and Catarrh.

Rheumatism and catarrh are both blood diseases. In many severe cases they have yielded to treatment with B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm), made by Blood Balm Co., Ga. Write for book of convincing proofs. Sent free.

R. P. Dodge, Atlanta, Ga, says: "My wife had catarrh and nothing did her any good. Her constitution finally failed and poison got into her blood. I placed her on a use of B. B. B., and to my surprise her recovery was rapid and complete."

W. P. McDaniel, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I was much emaciated and had rheumatism so bad I could not get along with crutches. I also had neuralgia in the head. First-class physicians did me no good. Then I tried B. B. B., and its effects were magical. I cheerfully recommend it as a good tonic and quick cure."

Mrs. Matilda Nichols, Knoxville, Tenn., writes: I had catarrh six years and a most distressing cough, and my eyes were much swollen. Five bottles of B. B. B., thank God! cured me."

J. M. Davis, Tyler, Texas, writes: "I was subjec' a number of years to spells of inflammatory rheumatism, which six bottles of B. B. B., thank heaven, has entirely cured. I have not felt the slightest pain since."

HE WAS CONVINCED.

An old man would not believe he could hear his wife talk a distance of five miles by telephone. His better-half was in a shop several miles away where there was a telephone, and the skeptic was also in a place where there was a similar instrument, and on being told how to operate it he walked boldly up and shouted, "Hello Sarah!" At that instant lightning struck the telephone wire, and knocked the man down, and as he scrambled to his feet he excitedly cried, "That's Sarah, every inch."

Catarrh Can't Be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATION, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucus surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucus surface. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

SHE TAKES A JACK.

One of the best-known female writers of the day says that "women are born gamblers." It is a decidedly broad statement, but there cannot be any doubt that they sometimes play hearts to catch diamonds.—Baltimore American.

And they generally catch a knave without diamonds. A queen of that sort always takes a jack.—Wil. Star.
